THE HIGHLANDER

1950

Foreward:

The "Highlander" staff of 1950 wishes to mold a yearbook that will be remembered as one of lasting qualities. Between these covers are reminders which will bring back pleasant reminiscence of by-gone days.

With much time and effort the members of the staff have produced this yearbook and we present it with the sincere hope that it will serve you well over the years to come.

We are indebted to Mr. Witter, our advisor, and to all who have had a part in the making of this yearbook.

The Board of Education and Faculty extend to the Class of 1950 sincere congratulations upon the completion of High School.

You have had the good fortune to receive an education in a free and democratic society. Your training will make you better able to assume the duties of the average citizen, and to accept positions of responsibility and leadership in our complex and somewhat confused world.

It is our wish that you will endeavor to preserve the ideals which have made our Country great and that you will have a happy and successful life.

DEDICATION

TO MRS. MARIAN UTTER

The Senior Class of Dundee Central School wishes to dedicate the 1950 yearbook to Mrs. Marian Utter. We are happy to have this opportunity to commend her for the kindness and cooperation that she has extended to us during our high school career, not only in our studies but through her enthusiasm and interest in our extra-curricular activities.

Mrs. Utter has taught in Altay, Watkins Glen and at present is our instructor in senior high school English here in Dundee. Throughout her twenty-three years of teaching she has had the experience and privilege of teaching all grades in the school system excepting the 10th grade. Mrs. Utter is thorough and sincere in all her teaching efforts and her advice has been both reliable and good.

Throughout our senior year Mrs. Utter has spent much time advising the staff of "The Bag Piper" which has been Dundee's first attempt at journalism. In a like manner she has had the responsibility of proof reading all materials used in our yearbook.

Mrs. Utter is advisor for the "Highlights" staff. She has served in this capacity for three years. She is a member of the committee for the National Honor Society and has been coach for the public speaking contests. For the past several years she has been a supervisor for practicing teachers from Elmira College. Mrs. Utter has played an active part for all of the benefit dances sponsored by the P.T.A. and directed the Senior play.

Mrs. Utter graduated from Western Michigan College of Education with an A.B. degree, and has done graduate work on her Masters degree.

The Senior Class is indebted to Mrs. Utter and sincerely hopes that our dedication to her will prove our admiration and appreciation for her friendliness, advice and teaching skill.

Any history requires the spice of variety; a little bit of everything. Adventure, drama, lots of events, dull or high-strung and the general factors of the "Struggle for Survival," all are molded into a pattern and given certain size, weight, and color. The Class of '50 is no exception to the rule.

How often and how long anyone remembers the many and varied incidents and characteristics related to the Class of '50 is not of major import. It is that for which we are remembered that is our prime concern. Some will recall only individual persons; others will remember occurrences which support or conflict with adopted principles. But one thing is certain; any one who has been in the slightest contact with us has received some impression or depression of some caliber which ever the case might be.

Let's see, I remember when--

In '46 another bunch of Freshmen was seen; full of zest, spirit, and a slight degree of academic curiosity. This was our beginning. The idea of being one of the "Big Four" was something to crow about at that. This was why we had endured eight or more years of priming and pushing. We were on our last lap in the race for educational armament. We had blossomed into the "Age of Records." From then on we were property of the Board of Regents and entrusted to the faculty. (Or were they supposed to be our charges?)

Ah, those Freshmen days when nobody griped about dues and by some queer quirk of intellectual benevolence--paid them. We became capitalists before we realized it. (Over two dollars in the treasury.) We were a rather dormant crew that year, so they say. In that same year we staged our first "production." The boys had quite a time with their lines when Janet was around. Do you still have those shorts you used in the play, Janet? Remember, seniors, the time we had our picnic at the fairgrounds? That's when Mary Woodard raced Don Phillips around the track. It did not seem quite fair to make Mary run backwards though. It wasn't long before that year had disappeared.

The sound of Sophomore was something new again. After writing 9A or B on our papers for a few months, we adopted the new name with pride. Were we ever Freshmen? Oh, a long time ago. This year we set the pace. Work, recreation, social life, every thing had reached a higher tempo. This was the beginning of a transition period. How we interpreted our life at school became our basic mettle in forming our habits and making ourselves efficient to the people around us. Our activities were quite limited again this year. In fact we did a little less than almost nothing. We had difficulty in divulging the validity of free enterprise to our patient advisors. Our picnic at Watkins Glen was a great success except for the fact that if you kept the mosquitoes away from your food they obligingly started to chew on you. Eventually the portals of time closed upon the scenes of another school year.

HISTORY

The volatile hours of vacation soon ushered in our Junior year, a year full of vitality. We had a play and Prom to consider; and about a dozen Regents exams too. Some of us lucky Juniors were even sporting a car and I think somebody had a license. (Punchboard job, no doubt.) Our treasury became a prime requisite. We had to begin to "fill the coffer." That year we staged the same play as a neighboring senior class. It was quite a situation that developed. Some of the actors in our play were forced to learn their parts because they wanted them to look alike anyway. We should have staged "Hamlet" even though it would have been a little less dramatic than "Grandpa Steps Out." It is always a good policy to make the most of what comes and the least of what goes. We had a good chance to wear that philosophy thin when we presented the Junior Prom. After mortgaging three prominent Juniors we were able to pay the bills. June had come around again before we realized it. Now we have a single year remaining.

This year is our year. The time to polish the rudiments and make them smooth--the time to realize more and more that our school years have been a privilege and not a burden. We really began to work on our projects this year. Magazines, Christmas cards, candy and nearly even starting a used car lot. Then of course our annual play and the Senior Ball were first rate projects too. We had become regular troupers by now even though we played only a one night stand. Hughy was turned on full blast. I still think the play was written for him. Those play practices were really long some nights weren't they fellows? (Two or three A.M.) Our Senior Trip by now has lapsed. I am sure it merited all our years of labor and shelling out dues. As we now begin to be conscious of the adult world about us, we realize how significant our school years have been. Taking our respective places in the world of men and women, we will carry with us the memory of many incidents as we journey throughout the years. Our relationships as classmates and close friends will still be with us even though distances separate us.

Some of us have looked forward to the day when we would be "free" in the world. This may seem a good thing at the time but I'm sure everyone will notice the absence of familiar associations. The pep-talks Mrs. Utter gave us all through high school, the way we all joined in our activities as a group, the jokes and incidents we all got a kick out of, the plays, parties, picnics, our trip and maybe even our air-cushion seats will make us reminisce and try to recapture the full color of their significance. Together we have made the grade, steep to some of us, but perseverance triumphs. Now, as we stand facing the uncertain future we already realize in a small way the gravity of our position. But, as in the past, we hope to surmount our difficulties and to serve nobly, honestly, and charitably, both God and our fellow men.

CLASS WILL

We the Senior Class of Dundee Central School being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish and declare this our last will and testament, in the following manner:

The time for us to part is drawing near,
From all these things we love
and hold so dear.
And yet, there will be memories
from the start,
That will prevail in each and every heart.

Our days have not all been in toil, we've had our share of fun,
With our proms, and plays, and studying, we're proud of the things we've done.
And to those who are behind us, the Class of '50 extends its hope for success, and purpose that will steer you around the bend.

To Parents and teachers, our thanks go to you.
For everything you've given us
and all you've helped us do.
The training you gave us right here at D. C. S.,
Will make us better citizens and lead us to success.

As we, another Senior Class,
at last reached the crest,
May we choose the road to happiness and endeavor to do our best.
Squarely meeting life's many problems with a steady, sincere zest,
Ever striving, always hoping,
to quite fully meet the test.

This year's Junior Class has been very active throughout the year by selling school supplies, sponsoring shows, presenting plays, and enjoying class parties.

This year we have continued selling school supplies in the upper corridors in the morning and at noon. Besides selling school supplies every day, we have sold Christmas cards and Christmas Door Hangers which added to our treasury greatly.

Last fall we co-sponsored a magic show with the American Legion which proved successful.

Last October the Class of '51 enjoyed a class hayride, which for the first time, wasn't accompanied by rain. The next party was a Christmas party which was appreciated by all. The entertainment part was held in the gymnasium and the Christmas tree and refreshments in the cafeteria.

"The Black Widow", a mystery-comedy, was presented as an assembly program with Maxine Berry, Joan Klug, Charlene Stanton, Shirley Savage, Shirley Dibble, Gordon Pratt, Conrad Ignaszewski, Kenny Webster, and Tommy Davis starring in the cast, capably directed by Miss Preston with Theodore Griswold and William Poterson working behind the scenes. We plan to present Nat Lakely's "Home Was Never Like This" a rousing comedy of three acts as our Junior play in March.

In January a farewell party was given to Mr. Kullman, our class advisor, throughout high school. He always counseled us well and participated in all class activities. We are very grateful to him and were sorry to see him leave.

At our first class meeting of 1950 we elected Mr. Witter as our advisor for the remainder of our Junior year and all of our Senior Year.

The class of '51 has been successful only because of its capable advisors and class cooperation. We have sincere faith that our Senior year will be as successful as we have enjoyed thus far.

ACTIVITIES

Activities! Wouldn't school be dull without them. Freshman, Sophmores, Juniors and Seniors alike participate, but definitely.

If I remember correctly, the Freshman have had an eventful year, as Freshman always do! Early this fall they had a hayride which meant their first big class activity in high school. While we're on the subject, you know it's not every member of the faculty, who, acting as a chaperone gets knocked out on one of these joyful events. It seems Mr. Alger, their class advisor, was in a reclining position with his head slightly protruding beyond the edge of the wagon, when out of the night there appeared a guard rail. Wham!

The Freshman play is yet to come and I believe there are rumors of a growing bank account.

Hey there Sophmores, you haven't been standing still this year have you? You also had a hayride in early fall. If my source of information is correct I believe the Diven's refrigerator was raided when the class stopped there for refreshments, and didn't one of the fellas get quite a shiner when an apple he threw up on a barn roof rolled back down into his face? Under the direction of their class advisor, Miss Saunders, the vocal music director, new to the faculty this year, the Sophmores staged a hilarious basketball game between the fellows and girls of the class and of course they played girls rules which made it a riot. Take it from the Seniors, Sophmores your most pleasant memories will be of your highschool class activities together.

Special mention goes this year to the "Class of '51" who are now Juniors. What ambition and incentive those kids have! Their biggest project this year has been the School Supply Center which they have faithfully and efficiently operated. Before the yuletide season the whole class turned out to sell Christmas cards and wreaths to add "that green lettuce" to their growing Senior Trip fund. Incidentally there are no rumors concerning the Junior's financial status; every one is conscious of the fact that the Juniors are wealthy. As seems to be the tradition the Juniors also had a hayride.

This class was very unfortunate to lose this year their class advisor, Mr. Kullman, who has served them for the past four and a half years and to show their appreciation for his unfailing guidance they gave him a farewell party at Christmas. By the way, on the Q. T. we heard that Mr. Kullman received a pail of H₂O from above upon his entrance to the party, just a gesture of friendliness we assume.

Need I mention that this class received their rings this year? One can't help but notice them.

We are looking forward to the Junior Play in March and to their Prom in May.

"Class of '50"----that's us, we get out this year (we hope). Since early September the main thought that has penetrated our well filled brains (?) is our Senior trip. Yes, we are planning to leave for New York the 6th of April for a weekend in the great metropolis. Our money raising activities this year have been prosperous. We carried out a large magazine subscription sales program, and sold those delightfully soft air cushions. Candy sales have brought in profit to the class and delight to the student body.

You remember the Senior Play we put on last fall---how could you forget "Hugh" Litter as the naive, unrefined, ancient-minded Chester Binney, or Bill Haffleigh as the suave Frenchman, and how about the brassy dancing teacher played by Erma Allen, Joanie Quenzer as the typical college girl and Carolyn Peelle as the glamorous movie star? Our thanks go to Mrs. Utter for her supreme direction of our Play.

The Seniors attempted something new and different this year; the finished product was a school newspaper, the "Bagpiper", which we're sure was well liked by the student body. Our Senior Ball is yet to come and after that we'll all sit tight and wait until April 6th.

The Class of '50 wishes to thank Mr. Witter "muchly" for his guidance to the Yearbook Staff.

Special gratitude goes to our class advisor, Mr. Deller, who has been "utterly swell" as a counselor for our class during our four years in high school.

BOYS SPORTS

The 49-50 sports schedule was unveiled as usual with football, followed by basketball, baseball, and track--our so called major sports.

The football world received the shock of a life time one chilly October afternoon as an inspired Dundee football team rose to great heights and up ended Odessa for their first win in two years, only to fall back in line with the previous year. Next year's team has a great start toward a more successful season, as Coach Algers has a wide assortment of material with which to work. If "Bunky" Griswold were as good a football player as he is a driver, he would murder any player that crossed his path.

Basketball came in due season with the team being composed of only a few hold overs from last year's team, and the advancement of the Junior Varsity's first string. So far this season our scoring punch has been in Ed (Chu-Chu) Hunt, while our BIG man for play making is Tommy Davis. At the date of this writing our team has failed to click in four out of six games for wins. I'm sure if Ed Hunt could tear himself away from those trains he plays with, he could lead Dundee on to victory. The Junior Varsity has been developing quite rapidly under the expert supervision of Mr. Morse. Of course the J. V. has an outstanding player as do all of the teams, and he is none other than James "Macnastic" Symonds.

The track prospects for this year are on the bright side, as Mr. Bradley produced a championship team last year.

As for baseball the prospects look rather bright since the season has yet to begin. There is just one question. Who is going to be the baseball star, now that "Fireball" Rowley has been signed by the St. Louis Browns? (Yuk Yuk)

Football has been the only interclass sport so far this year, and this was won by the Seniors. Mr. Bradley has just started to take his bowling team to Watkins once a week, and guess what? the girls are going this year too. What fun that must be.

GIRLS SPORTS

The girls from the Class of 1950 have always been interested as far as sports are concerned. There has always been a feeling of co-operation and we have played to the best of our ability.

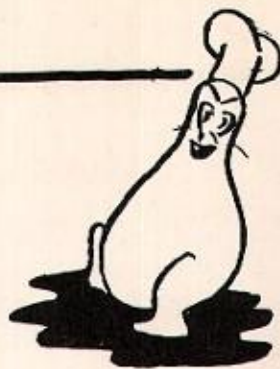

We started out in our Freshman with a bang and have maintained a good record in sports. We have participated and been successful in soccer, volley ball, basketball and softball. Many of our girls have also participated in ping pong shuffle-board, and badminton.

This year the sports have deviated a little from the regular course. We are playing intramurals instead of interclass. There are four teams composed of girls from each room. The sports that we are going to play the last half are basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, and ping pong. Archery, which has not been taught for quite a few years, will be resumed again and bowling has already started.

We will have a play day in February for the girls in the Lake Region Area. The activities for that day will include basketball, volleyball, and ping pong.

We girls from the Senior Class have greatly enjoyed the competition and excitement of sports. We have respected our opponents and enjoyed playing them and sincerely hope they feel the same toward us.

HONOR SOCIETY

At the beginning of the school year, the Dundee Chapter of the National Honor Society met to elect new officers. The holders of the offices for this year are as follows: President, Virginia Dlugosh; Vice-President, Erma Allen; Secretary, Janet Grace; Treasurer, Joyce Gardner. The purpose of this society is to uphold scholarship, service, character, and leadership, so at the end of every six weeks, awards are given to the outstanding student in each of these fields.

After the midyear exams, an assembly was held for the purpose of inviting and initiating into full membership, those students who fulfilled the requirements for entrance in accordance with the constitution of the Honor Society. The new members are LaVerna Travis, Thomas Davis and Barbara Woodard. We hope that many more of our students will aspire to scholarly habits, active leadership, and worthy service, so that they too, will become members of the Dundee Chapter of the National Honor Society in the future.

IN MEMORIAM

We, the class of 1950, pause in reverence to pay respect to the beloved memory of Dr. James Parker MacDowell and to extend our deepest sympathy to his bereaved family.

For thirty-seven years, as a practicing physician in this community, he has served faithfully a public that may well mourn his passing. He had been health officer of the Town of Barrington since 1913. He was also health officer of the Village of Dundee and the Towns of Starkey and Tyrone.

His untiring interest in the welfare of children effected a close bond of understanding between the doctor and all who knew him. Whenever a project aimed toward the social betterment of our community was in the making, we would find his respecer word weighing strongly in its favor. It was through his influence that the movement for our village water and sewage system was commenced.

Indeed, the name of Dr. J. P. MacDowell will continue to hold its honored place in the hearts of his wide circle of acquaintances. The boys and girls of the Dundee Cintral School, as well as the older members of our community, have lost a true friend and a wise counsellor.
